Chapter 44: Emergence of The S^5-Rank Gates

The Earth, once a place of calm with gates ranging from the low to high S-Ranks, now faced an unprecedented challenge. The highest rank ever known, the SSSSS-Rank gates, or S^5-Rank, suddenly appeared, threatening to shake the very fabric of reality. The gates were enormous, rippling with unimaginable power, and with each opening, vast swarms of monsters poured out, much stronger than anything seen before.

However, the arrival of these new gates, though formidable in appearance, was not as terrifying as the world had once feared. For the Sung Clan had long surpassed the power of mere gate ranks. Their strength had evolved to unimaginable heights, especially as the Divine Triad grew even more powerful.

Each member of the Sung Clan had ascended to the peak of their potential, now equivalent to SSSSSSS-Rank (S^7-Rank). They had mastered unimaginable powers, their strength now incomparable to the strongest threats Earth had known. As a result, even the appearance of S^5-Rank gates failed to cause significant fear.

Meanwhile, the Divine Triad, in their ultimate form, had transcended the limits of power. They were now capable of powers so vast and incomprehensible that their strength could no longer be measured on the same scale as the gates. The Divine Triad's abilities were immeasurable, so potent that a single wave of their hand could obliterate an entire galaxy—the Milky Way itself. In fact, even the S^{99999}-Rank monsters or threats from these gates would seem insignificant in comparison to their overwhelming might.

Yet, the second clones of Sung Jin-Woo and Sung Su-Ho, each holding only 5% of the original strength of the Divine Triad, still retained unimaginable power. Even at a fraction of their true potential, the second clones were capable of wiping out the entirety of the Milky Way galaxy with just 20 waves of their hands—twenty actions being enough to match the power that could typically only be held by beings of unimaginable scale and destruction.

In this new age, the Sung Clan and the Divine Triad stood as the final protectors of the multiverse, reigning supreme and ensuring that no external force—no matter how vast—would ever again threaten their universe.
